Last summer Daniel and I went to a yearbook camp sponsored by James Madison University. At the camp we were encouraged to find something that set our school apart from the others. Of course with our school being just shy of two hundred students while the others had numbers in the thousands, it was fairly easy to think of differences. Daniel and I used a unique lense to shape how we viewed the entire school year.

The memories made this year include experiences only to be had at Shenandoah Valley Academy. The very yearbook you hold in your hands is the sum of all of those experiences. The theme communicates the fact that this book was designed and made by people who were there to witness all the events that made SVA what it is. When you flip through the pages of the yearbook, it becomes abundantly clear that this book couldn't be from just any school because to truly understand all the jokes and traditions, well "Ya Had To Be There!"

MESSAGE from the PRINCIPAL

Dear Shenandoah Valley Academy Family:

Our theme this year was taken from the book of Nehemiah. "The God of Heaven will give us success. We are his servants and we will work." Nehemiah was a man who faced ridicule, intimidation, and political intrigue with steadfast resolve. He wasn't afraid to work. And he knew the Source of his success. Does that describe our approach to the challenges and opportunities we have experienced at SVA this year? I pray that it does. We say congratulations to the Class of 2017. You have grown and achieved a measure of success. On behalf of parents and grandparents, faculty, staff, and alumni, I can say, "We are proud of you. We pray that the God of heaven will give you real, lasting success." So we say goodbye to the 2016-2017 academic year. And as this book says, you had to be here to fully understand the successes God has given us individually and as a family: weeks of prayer, music performances and outreach, academic achievement, times of laughter and tears with friends and roommates, victories won on the fields and ball courts.

And again, at the end of this year, we believe that it is all in vain if we have missed the most important things. Do we know Jesus more than we did at the beginning of the year? Do we understand His claims on our lives better? Do we sense His strength, the success that He promises us, in the battles between good and evil?

May the God of Heaven give us success, as we seek His will, and rely on His strength to follow Him.

Donald Short
Principal

FAREWELL

Andy Rivera

From the moment I stepped onto campus I realized that this school was a mixture of cultures, like a stained glass window where everyone has their own individual color that works to compliment the surrounding colors. No man has worked to highlight those cultures the way Mr. Rivera has. From teaching the many international students we have on campus to teaching the English speakers in his Spanish class, Mr Rivera has challenged students to understand different cultures and languages. Mr. Rivera brings to the campus a Latin flare and a country twang all in one with his wide range of musical talents. We will miss hearing Spanish hymns in chapel and having his infectious personality in class.

Azaraiah Anderson

Azaraiah Anderson came to Shenandoah the same year as this year's senior class and in his time here he has created new programs and given new life to old traditions. AZ, as he is referred to by most of the student body, has worked with the administration and been a voice for the students. Azaraiah worked to create an Eventide service and make it a weekly staple. Azaraiah also teaches Basic Christianity and Video Yearbook. He has made a tremendous impact on the culture that surrounds the student body of SVA and will be greatly missed.

DEDICATION

In 18 years of teaching at Shenandoah Valley Academy, Gabrielle Geddis Griffin has become an institution. Mrs. Griffin has revolutionized the way history and government are taught and understood. She brings an energy to the classroom that encourages every student to try their hardest. Mrs. Griffin is a woman of God who makes a conscious effort to include spirituality in every class period. Without fail, Mrs. Griffin begins each class with a devotional of some kind and a prayer. She makes a relationship with God a priority and it shows in the way she handles situations.

In the classroom, Mrs. Griffin is up front about her expectations of students. She has one rule in her classroom and that is “R-E-S-P-E-C-T.” As a teacher Mrs. Griffin challenges her students not only to be outstanding academically, but to be extraordinary human beings who can learn from mistakes made in the past. Mrs. Griffin goes beyond teaching students curriculum in order to make sure each individual is aware of how the past has shaped the world they live in today.

Mrs. Griffin is a teacher whose sentiments are lasting. People who have graduated decades in the past remember Mrs. Griffin and appreciate her teaching style later on. Personally as a student of hers, I value her as one of my greatest mentors. When faced with choices to make about my career and education, Mrs. Griffin was there to talk me through the process logically while still taking into consideration the importance emotions held in the decision. Mrs. Griffin’s love for Shenandoah and its students extends far beyond the doors of the classroom and the halls of Twomley Hall. No other teacher can spot a student struggling emotionally with the precision and care demonstrated by Mrs. Griffin. She makes an effort to reach out to students and is exceptionally talented when it comes to respecting boundaries. On occasion when students have disputes, it is a well known fact that Mrs. Griffin is an expert mediator and will handle each situation fairly, respectfully, and with extreme discretion. There is no place on campus more safe from judgement than within the purple walls of Mrs. Griffin’s office.

7. LADIES AND GENTLEMEN

Allie-Mae Magtanong ('18) and Meshach Perez ('17) announce the next activity at the barn party.

8. HAY FEVER

Dewell Jimenez ('17) and Barry Armstrong ('17) relax on a hay bale next to the barn.

6. GETTIN' HITCHED

Daniel Chirvasuta and Madeleine Ware (both '17) enjoy some watermelon while being 'hitched' by the sophomore class booth.

5. OFF TO SEE THE SHERIFF

Tatyana Vaga ('17) and Xavier Lewis ('18) attempt to apprehend Laylah Vargas ('19) to escort her to jail.

This year the Student Association (SA) held their annual Barn Party on campus, a recently started tradition. The party had a Wild West theme and people who were not in a costume were encouraged to wear their finest western garb. A new feature this year was "cuffing." Each class was asked to contribute a booth for the party and the Sophomores ('19) had a station where for the price of one ticket you could have two people hitched together with zip ties. The game added a fun twist to the already exciting Barn Party and was a surefire way to get students spending tickets.

9. ONESIE FUNSIE

Tommy Retz, Ben Adjei, and Kevin Lee (all '19) dress up in full body superhero costumes and walk down the runway.

10. NO MACARENA

Ryan Griffin ('17) and Lori Serrano ('19) clap and dance in front of the barn.

6. IN THE NAME OF

Kyle Thompson ('19) is baptized by Pastor Buzz in his grandfathers pool

7. ABOVE THE WAVES

Jamel Northover gives Salima Omwenga and Moti Tesgera (all '17) a ride through the Kings Dominion wave pool.

8. WHATS THAT SMELL?

Aaron Amaya ('18) can smell victory during musical chairs at the junior party.

4. THE OVERSEER

Mr. Short spectates as the sophomores play in the Thompson's pool and water slide.

10.

10. LIFE

Rashelle Copp and Juicy Francois (both '20) enjoy a Game of Life at the freshmen party.

1. BOWLING BARRY

Iverson Kester, Becky Renderos, Salima Omwenga, and Madeleine Ware (all '17) laugh with Barry, ball in hand, at his previous shot.

2. GOING IN WITH A SWING

Daniel Chirvasuta ('17), hair braided, gets low to take his shot at duck-pin bowling.

3. CUE THE TENSION

Jake Callahan watches Joseph Tembo line up his shot in pool while Barry Armstrong waits his turn.

A group of freshmen play a game of Twister on two mats in the church fellowship hall.

2 YUMMYLICIOUS

Mrs. Reedy smiles and takes notes while selling pudding with Jessica Pepper ('17).

10 NO TREBLE

Ryan Griffin ('17) plays "Mummers" composed by John Merle.

1 STRING WARS

Noe Grady and Janice Pakkianathan play a Star Wars medly on violin while Justin Lee and CJ Sanchez duel with lightsabers.

7. GOOD GRUB

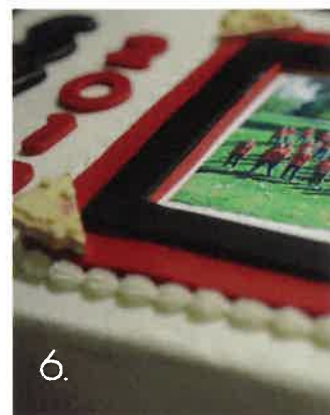

Felica Kisku ('17) receives food from the different ethnic groups run by the parents of '17.

8. THUMB FACES

The Senior Class made a platter that includes their fingerprints for the Senior Auction.

9. COOKIES AND BALLS

Amaia Belgrave and Mabel Mabena painted a cookie jar to sell at the Senior Auction. All the members of the class signed a variety of sports balls for the auction.

Senior night the class had a mission to go big or go home. The evening began with a delicious international meal provided by senior parents. They pulled out all the stops. Everyone then headed to the auditorium for the live auction and program. Many thanks to Jared Thompson for once again using his expertise to raise an astounding amount of money for the class of 2017. As the evening wore on, the class members did a cha-cha line, scream-singing the school song and just about anything and everything to create enthusiasm. In between the auction, the audience had moments of comedic relief between watching the senior class give their best performances. The night ended with the praise team, WeSound, and the class of 2017 serenading the audience with a classic Disney "Send it On". The night was great and in the end, our collective hard work paid off. Many thanks to all the parents and others who made this a successful event. We couldn't have done it without you.

3. UNEXPECTED

Mr. Griffin photo-bombs Raisy, Salima, and Maddie W.

ALIVE and KICKING

1. AROUND BACK

Iverson Kester ('17) puts a member of the opposing team in the mix with his footwork.

2. STICKYFINGERS

Pedro Pereira ('18) jumps to catch yet another shot at the goal.

3. FOOT FIGHT

Kevin Lee ('19) gets physical to win the ball from another player. Coach Norbert Jedamski had often drilled in the heads of the teammates that "soccer is a contact sport"

4. ARMS UP

Striker Darnell Devadass ('17) uses his whole body to balance himself while going for the steal.

5. HIGH KICKS

Kingsley Ackah ('19) fights it out in the air.

Being a part of this year's soccer team has been one of my most memorable and valuable experiences of my senior year. Throughout many games, practices in rain or shine, and injuries as shown below, the team has done nothing but their best, and it has paid off. With no lost games and only two tied during regular season, this has been one of the best years for the guys in recent SVA history. Only the skills of the guys on an individual and team basis, the chemistry shared by all the teammates, both new and old, as well as Coach Norbert Jedamski's great leadership could have gotten us that far.

NACA tournament was the climax of the season. There, the guys took third place in 2nd division only due to games lost in penalty kicks. Not only was the time on the turf a success, but the guys had a nice time to relax with some SVA alumni during the weekend after the tournament was over. Many of the guys joined some of the girls from volleyball in participating in the music service at church. Afterwards, both teams went to a national park featuring a large waterfall and beach. It was a very hectic, yet relaxing and enjoying trip! - Daniel Chirvasuta

6. BRO-CHEM

Best friends on and off the turf, Joseph Tembo ('17) and Edrian Sanchez ('18) put another player in the mix with their short passes.

7. FACE SHOT

Coach Jedamski checks up on Kevin Lee ('19) after a careless high kick from the other team knocked the lens out of his glasses.

8. ON THE SIDELINES

Coach discusses tactics with Pedro Pereira ('18) as he hydrates.

9. FACE SHOT, PT. 2

Soon after Kevin Lee got injured (above, '19), Pedro Pereira received a similar injury while defending the goal.

1. SAY WHAT?

Floor Captain Becky Renderos ('17) leads the team in their pregame chant. The chant tradition was started during her freshman year and is a tradition for the girls on the team to get excited before a game.

bump, set,

SPIKE!

This season's volleyball team featured a large number of both seniors and freshmen which created an interesting dynamic. This group of girls worked together to become one unified team. With the age gaps, it became like a mentor system because the seniors and other team veterans were able to give the freshmen advice and help them reach their full potential. The atmosphere this season was different from past years because there was a big focus on being comfortable as a team and encouraging one another. This outlook helped the team to win quite a few games and to lose gracefully.

2 TO GOD BE THE GLORY

The team huddles with Coach Kedrin Jedamski to pray before the game. Before each game one of the captains prays for the sportsmanship and safety of both our Lady Stars and that of the other team.

8. SETTING IT UP

Elizabeth Schuen ('17) sets the ball at tournament.

7. GOT IT

McKenzie Hanon ('19) positions herself to bump the ball while Coach Kedrin Jedamski watches on.

3. SERVICE

Becky Renderos ('17) winds up to give a killer overhand serve.

5. REJECTED

Allie Mae Magtanong ('18) goes up on the net using a volleyball technique called tipping. This sneaky play helped our Lady Stars score multiple points

4. CONCENTRATION

Brenda Ngetich('17) watching intently, ready for the ball to come to her area of the court at anytime. Many girls on the team have called Brenda the source of the team's serenity when on the court.

4. REACH

Malena Bonacina (18') goes up for a spike. The team welcomed two foreign exchange players from Argentina who contributed to the team, both in spirit and ability.

5. FOUL PLAY

Two Highland View players foul Jalen Knight ('18) as he goes up for a layup. After handling some drama on the court quite well, he was allowed two free shots with no one on the court.

3. CELEBRATING A WIN

Iverson Kester ('17) jumps for joy after getting a buzzer-beating bucket.

4. TAKING NOTES

Coach Kilgore talks to a ref while Ricky Paulino ('17) does some scorekeeping.

1. KICKS GOT WINGS

Iverson Kester ('17), unguarded, jumps early for the layup with Mike Sewell ('17) ready for the rebound.

2. KILGORISM

Coach Kilgore talks to some seniors during halftime while Dean Azariah and Tommy Retz ('19) listen intently.

6. "COOKIES"

As Tommy Retz takes a foul shot, Ben Adjei (both '19) tries to get in for the rebound.

7. STICKY FINGERS

Jalen Knight ('18) uses his height to get above the competition during the toss-up.

8. CANT STOP, WONT STOP

Luke Fogg ('17), one of the smaller Seniors, jumps over an opponent that was in the way with a clear shot at the basket.

9. BRINGING IT IN

The team huddles, arms up, during a time out, ready to chant "SVA" on the count of three.

10. SWEET VICTORY

After two tight games lost to sister school Highland View Academy, everyone celebrates the guys' first win against them on their home court. It was the last game against HVA before tournament, so the pressure was on. Final score: 65 - 60.

1. STANDING TALL

Salima Omwenga ('17) waits for an open pass, staring an opponent from HVA down.

2. HOW LOW CAN YOU GO

Hailey Wolters ('19) keeps the ball contained while looking for a pass.

3. UP UP AND AWAY

They shoot, they score!

4. LEADING THE TEAM

Raisy takes the lead with the ball as the rest of the team has her back.

Madeleine Ndahayo (17) injured her knee last year in a heated basketball game. This season she came back, with a vengeance. During the first few games of the season she rested up and learned plays, but once second semester began, the beast was back! Madeleine and the rest of the Lady Stars had a great season and came in second place at the Spencerville Tournament while coming in third at the Andrews Tournament.

6. SCHOOLS COLLIDE

Salima Omwenga ('17) collides with an HVA player.

7. RECORD KEEPING

Dewell Jimenez and Ricky Paulino ('17) keep score.

5.

5. POSSESSION TIME

Katie Kemmer ('19) keeps possession of the ball.

10. RUNNING IT IN

Maddy Ndahayo ('17) has the ball and is going for the win.

11. POWER STRUGGLE

Karen Cruz-Cruz ('17) fights to keep the ball.

9. CONTROL IS KEY

Noe Grady ('17) keeps the ball out of reach from the opposition.

12. EYES PEELED

Noe Grady ('17) holds the ball high while searching the court for an open teammate.

8. RALLYING THE CROWD

Luke Fogg ('17) walks around with a mega-phone supporting SVA.

7. STAR SHINES BRIGHT

Linsey Smith ('18) joins the rest of the medal recipient girls at the end of a meet, arms around each other.

Legs aching, heart pounding, lungs burning, sweat dripping... you run. It's a race, a race against time, a race against yourself. You hardly notice those around you. Suddenly your finish line comes into sight and the relief you feel pushes you into a sprint. As you stop running nausea rises into your throat and you listen for your time. You smile, faster than last time. As the pain fades a tingling energy fills your body and you feel amazing. This is cross country.

Every afternoon we joined as a team to run together. The goal wasn't to compete, wasn't to win, just to improve. Trystan and Linsey, our team captains, inspired us everyday to not give up, to have fun. Dean Azariah's unrealistic expectations made us laugh until we actually started meeting them. We may not have been the best team, but we were excited to be running, in the words of Dean Azariah, "Together....with each other."

Miranda Benton

3. VICTORY POS

Heidi Davis ('17), Mirand Benton ('18), and Lindsey Smith ('18) take a moment to celebrate after finishing a difficult run.

4. ENDURING THE RAC

Valerie Pichot ('18) and Ashe Ardon ('20) are pushing through the course at Foxcroft School.

1. ON YOUR MARK

Linsey Smith ('18), Valerie Pichot ('18), and Heidi Davis ('17) begin the race with a great start.

2. THAT'S A WRAP

After a long run, the girls finish off with a much needed stretching session.

The team, dressed in their blue and lime green jackets, listens to Coach Jessica.

9. GIRL POWER

Trisney Bocala ('18) gets some height with the help of some fellow girls.

6. LEARNING FROM THE PROS

Southern Adventist University's Acro team puts on a show for SVA, later giving the Acro Stars one-on-one help.

7. BALANCING ACT

Meshach Perez helps Jason Khargie (both '17) do a hand stand on a set of rails.

1. GATHER ROUND

The team forms a circle to pray before their performance at Shenandoah Valley Adventist Elementary.

2. QUICK FLIP

Brenda Ngetich ('17) and Abby Thomas ('20) practice flipping Trisney Bocala ('18).

3. GAME PLAN

Coach Heilman talks to the team.

4. SMILE AND KNEEL

Trisney Bocala ('18) sits on Jamel Northover's ('17) knee after a tough performance.

5. THREE HIGH

Some members of the team form a standing pyramid with Paige Schuen ('20) on top.

The SVA 2017 Acrobatics team. The one sport on campus that is a year long commitment. Although they started gradually, the team eventually started to recognize its potential and began learning how to perfect things from the most simpler moves to the more extreme ones. The team gained confidence after their shows and garnered some additional guidance when they did a workshop with the Southern gymnastics group. The Acro team is a big team but it is also a unit that encourages each member to be the best that they can be and that's the best part about it.

A photograph of three young men sitting on a large, weathered log in a forest. The man in the center is smiling and looking towards the camera. He is wearing a grey t-shirt with the word 'PHANTOM' visible. To his left, a man with red hair and glasses is looking down. To his right, a man with sunglasses is partially visible. The background is a dense forest with green foliage. A grey rectangular box with the word 'CHARACTER' in white capital letters is overlaid on the upper part of the image.

1. THE START OF SOMETHING NEW

SA President and Vice President CJ Sanchez and Justin Lee (both '17) smile as they welcome students, both new and returning, on Registration day. Later in the day both boys were seen passing out cool water bottles to parents and students who needed refreshment.

2. MOVING DAY

Sid Cooper ('19) moves his things into Phansteil Hall, the boys' dorm, with his father's help.

The Resident Assistants of both Hadley and Phansteil Hall arrived at school a week before Registration to prepare the dorms for the upcoming school year. Activities during the week included cleaning the dorms, visiting Dean Rita's house, games in the Student Center, "Morning Madness" workout plans, and meeting the new deans. "We pushed a truck!" exclaimed Ricky Paulino ('17), proud of his accomplishment while reminiscing on the eventful week. Judd Watson ('17) provided a little background on Ricky's comment by describing the workout regimen they carried out every morning of the week under the leadership of the Andy Powell. "Mr. Powell turned us into the me we are today," said Watson. The girls also had fun during the week. The RA's in Hadley Hall made the nametags for the girls on their halls by hand. "As we wrote the girls' names on their name tags we wondered how they would be when they arrived" said Madeleine Ndahayo ('17).

5. SAY CHEESE

Feben Gashaw ('20) poses as Mrs. Short captures a picture for the Mugshots book. Each student had their picture taken during the registration process.

6. MEET THE PARENTS

Olivia Sarmiento ('20) talks with the new head dean of Hadley Hall, Stephanie Powell, before moving in. Dean Powell spoke with each girl and her parents before they moved in as a way to introduce herself.

The S.A.L.T. team in front of the Sight & Sound Theater

On September 21, when the rest of the campus went home, the student leaders of Shenandoah Valley Academy stayed behind. The following day began with an early morning in order to arrive at our destination--Pine Forge, Pennsylvania. The group stopped in a small rural town in Pennsylvania to grab a quick lunch. Pastor Harley told the group that he had allotted some time in the tight schedule to stop and take a few pictures at the Sight and Sound Theater. Once the group got to the theater a man climbed aboard the bus and asked PH for our tickets. At that point PH pulled out several small slips of paper. While this was occurring many of the group who had been at the back of the bus moved forward to hear what had caused all the commotion. When PH admitted he had tricked the group and that they were in fact going to attend the performance of Samson, there was a raucous like never before. For many that would be their first time to attend a show at that theater.

After watching the breathtaking performance, the leaders continued on their way to the Pine Forge Academy campus. On Thursday night there was a group meeting where everyone had the opportunity to introduce themselves and play a few fun icebreaker games. On Friday morning there was another group session where everyone heard from the speaker on what serving with purpose should look like. At that point the student leaders from all the schools enjoyed breakout sessions that were tailored to the specific positions they were to serve at their school. The breakout sessions were led by the Student Association of Washington Adventist University.

On Friday evening there was a powerful vespers service followed by an afterglow around a warm bonfire. On Saturday there was a church service with Sabbath School led out by the group from Shenandoah Valley Academy. We were also able to visit with Pastor Tres, who did our fall Week of Prayer. The pastor gave the leaders donuts and then allowed them to use the fellowship hall of the Pine Forge Church to practice the school song. That night each academy performed their school song and then played various games like musical chairs and body parts.

The leadership summit finished, and Sunday was another early morning. The drive back to Shenandoah was filled with naps and the sharing of moments from the memorable weekend. Once back in the Valley the group stopped for lunch at a mall in Winchester. After the short drive to Shenandoah, the weekend was over, but the attitude of confidence carried on and was showcased this year through the many student-led spiritual activities like Prayer Around the Flagpole and the student-led Week of Prayer. -Amaia Belgrave

Every year the senior class goes into the woods as individuals and comes back as a united class; this year was no different. The senior class separated into three different teams and participated in team building activities. Each activity pushed the teams to their limits and required different skills. Salima Omwenga said "The bridge required us to communicate in a clear, organized fashion and to see people cheering others on." "The rope bridge was challenging and fun," said Matthew Harter.

NEW ENGLAND TOUR

With just a month more to go, the students of Shenandoah Valley Academy are preparing for their New England Tour. The tour will take place in May and will include visits to various locations in New England. The students will have the opportunity to see the White House, the Statue of Liberty, and other famous landmarks. The tour will also include a visit to the New England Aquarium and the New England Science Center. The students will have a great time and will learn a lot about the region.

On the day of the banquet, the boys walked to Hadley Hall where they were to pick up their dates and then escort them to the buses.

Once at the country club, students were served delicious pasta meals prepared by Mimi de Spirito, Mrs. Short, and the Parent Association. Cheesecake in various flavors rounded out the meal.

In the fall Pastor Tres Hayden came to visit from Pine Forge Academy and gave a powerful Week of Prayer. His theme was "Hope of the World". Pastor Tres encouraged the students to take the spirituality of SVA into their own hands and develop their personal relationships with Christ. He poked on an array of subjects, but his message was the same through it all--"Allow God to make a personal impact on your life."

Later in the school year there was a Student Led Week of Prayer organized by a group of students. They decided on the message they wanted to bring to the student body. The group of leaders went to Camp Blue Ridge and did Bible study in order to figure out what this year's message should be. The group consensus was that this year's theme would be "Show Me." It was a plea to God to reveal himself to the campus during this week.

The leaders came up with a group of character traits they associated with God and then throughout the week shared those with their peers in small Bible study groups.

One of the most special evenings during the school year is ROK Vespers. This year's theme was Africa. After singing in different African languages, Mr. Frank Cox shared about his time in Africa as a missionary, with his friend Todd Jones leading the worship part of the evening. When the main program had finished, everyone filed into the Fellowship Hall for delicious authentic African food cooked by community churchmembers.

At the beginning of every school year the students and faculty of SVA load up the buses and head to Shenandoah National Park. The trip, affectionately called Hideaway Sabbath, gives newcomers a chance to make friends and old pros the opportunity to catch up.

Shenandoah tradition includes a school wide Bible skit game. Students in the senior college Bible game led out. The entire school is split up into groups, and each group is assigned a Bible story. The group is then tasked to create a short play retelling the story. After the groups performed this year, the judges chose Heidi Davis ('17) and her group as the winners.

After the skit game everyone was treated to a picnic in the park with hot dogs and s'mores. When everyone was finished eating and hanging out, the entire school family gathered to clean up the park.

The smell of fresh pizza dough and warm sauce drifts through my senses as I watch dozens of pizzas baking. It's girls dorm retreat and in the cafeteria girls frantically talk as if they haven't seen each other in years. At the beginning of every year girls club officers plan a weekend of bonding for all the girls in the school. This year we decided to spend Friday night making homemade pizza and listening to our speaker, Mrs. Grissom.

On Saturday we woke up late and spent the day out at a park in the mountains, but the location isn't what I'll remember. I'll remember laughing and shivering with friends while waiting for the sun to warm up the park. I'll remember that the salad was so good we ran out of greens before brownies. I'll remember listening to my sister's annoyance as her bus broke down, leaving her stranded out in the sticks. Most of all, hopefully everyone will remember having fun, unwinding, laughing, and connecting.

We built a church in week! Determined to meet the goal of putting up a church for the village during the week we were here, the crew worked from sunup to sundown. And on Sabbath the church was dedicated. Many of the villagers attended as well as church members from surrounding towns. It was not all hard work. The pathfinder club invited us to join them in their parade. Evenings were for recreation-- hanging out at the pool, going to the village market, or just relaxing. We left feeling blessed. - Judd Watson

Celebrate Your Moment!

Dear Janice,

Right from when you were a little kid you gave us reasons to hold our heads up in pride. We are proud of you and we love you deeply. Where have all the years gone! We look at you and wonder. Here you are ready to step into a new chapter of your life. You faced challenges with strength, determination and confidence. For most of the important decisions of life you trusted your intuitions and you gave it your all.

Congratulations on your graduation from SVA with honors! We pray and wish you a successful life ahead of you." May the Lord bless you and keep you: the Lord make His face shine on you and be gracious to you" is our prayer for you everyday.

Love always,

Daddy, Mommy, Andrew and Naomi

Dear Judd

Well you made it! We are so proud of all you have accomplished in your educational career. You will do great things for sure. Whether you go to college or just pick up a trade, your dad and I will back you 100%. My small baby has grown into a kind, loving, spiritual and caring man.

Love you to the moon and back,

Mom, Dad, Grammy, Preston and the rest of the gang

Our Son, Darnell

Congratulations! All praise goes to you, "O Lord," for giving us Darnell Leonard Devadass.

Amazed of the thought that 17½ years have passed since you entered this world. From the day you were born, you have filled our lives with happiness.

We have many memorable moments of you growing up, and we look forward to creating more as you start another level in life. You have turned to be handsome young man. You are talented, kind, caring, humble, loving, goal oriented, and have decided to serve God. You were very determined in finishing your high school at SVA, looked and reached out to family and friends that could help you continue your studies. We want thank all that were an instrument and a stepping stone to your success.

So Darnell, May the Lord watch over you, keep you safe and free from harm. May God bless you through life's trials. Help you choose right from wrong. May you set an example for all to see, standing tall, proud and strong in the Lord.

Congratulations Gustavo!!!

Dear Gustavo,
we are so proud of you of this major accomplishment.
As you move on to this next journey in life, never forget that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.
Always make Jesus your first, last, and best. We wish you all the best.
With love mom, dad, and Guilherme

Dear Dani,

You always want more money, like it's honey,
But that's ok because you make food yummy for my tummy.
You're also pretty funny
Although your nose is runny.
I try to tell you to be more sunny
From your replies, I'm sure glad I ain't your mommy!

But in all seriousness, at times I did feel like I was your mommy.
Like when you were born. Suddenly, I had many additional chores. I had to feed you, change your diapers, get you to nap when you didn't want to, and, worse of all, my friends and I had to be very quiet when you were, at last, napping. At least some things do change and now you love to nap.

I have enjoyed watching the changes, the growth, and the milestones in your life. Most of the changes were a relief, to tell you the truth. Like seeing you slightly mature after your freshman year of high school; seeing you care about your appearance, and then care a little too much; seeing the banquet dates, the violin recitals, the talent shows, the music trips, the perfect report cards. Changes and growth indeed have occurred but many more will take place, some welcomed, and some not-so-pleasant maybe. But remember that no matter what changes, obstacles, mistakes, apparent failures you go through, I will always be your sister. The mothering days are over, but I will gladly continue the role of confidant, friend, sister, and hug-giver. I have been and continue to pray for you every day, because I love you more than words can say. Congratulations on one of the first of many milestones to come.

~your big sis, Anca

Dear Daniel,

Daniel Chirvasuta

We've been so blessed to have a son like you! You have grown into a precious gift that continues to enrich our lives—a dream come true! Working hard shoulder to shoulder with Dad, your long hours of violin practice, calculus and physics, and even putting this yearbook together makes us realize the deep determination that drives you. We not only cherish your humor, but it's brought joy to our hearts to also watch you grow in kindness towards others, maturity in decision-making, and integrity in dealing with life. We wish for you to find the fulfillment of your calling in life, because you have so much to offer this world. Keep looking for the good, dream big, persevere, be happy, and most of all let God guide you, because He loves you more than anyone else, and His plan for you is grand and wonderful! Way to go, college-bound baby (and don't go too far)!
We love you, Mom

Believe it or not you are my son! And I am your father... We all grow together. I grow in age, and you in hair, power and wisdom. I know you can do more, and that's why I push you. But I am not going to let you down. No matter what, I will survive and you will strive, because every push is a step forward. So let's do push-ups and marathons together, and don't forget I believe in you I and love you

~Dad

Ryan Carter Griffin

We're so proud of all you've done these past four years. You've shown great resilience and perseverance. We're proud of your academic achievement and high school graduation.

But, greater than those things, we're more proud for the character you've allowed God to establish in you. In everything, you've demonstrated an ability to love and accept others unconditionally. We know that God has a plan for you and we look forward to seeing Him continue to work in your life. We love you very much.
Momma and Poppa

BARRY ARMSTRONG

Barry, our whole world changed the moment you came into our lives. It has been such a blessing watching you grow into the young man that you have become. We love the passion you have for basketball but never forget to seek the kingdom of God, and his righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you. The sky is the limit so look for heavenly things because with God all things are possible. We love you more than words can express and we are very proud of you.

Dad, Mom, Tyler, Alyssa, and Abuelos

Heidi Davis

We are proud of you and know God has a great plan for your life. We love you,
Mom & Dad (Jeremiah 29:11)

Mabel Bathabile, Siyakubongela! Congratulations!

You are a STARI Job well Done! The Lord is praised for your success. Keep aiming higher and higher and serve God and humanity with strength from Phil. 4:13.
With Love,
MOM, DAD, JAYDON, TAMANDA

Salima Omwenga

Salima Darling,

As our first born child, you have not disappointed us in any way and have lived to our expectations, not just academically and extra-curricular activities but also in your role as the oldest setting an example for your younger siblings, which you have and commendably so. Your journey at SVA which started in what looks like a life-time ago, and one truth be told none of us were certain what lay ahead as high school years are any parent's nightmare yet time has flown so fast you're now graduating and that journey is coming to an end with nothing but good memories and a great education to boot.

Congratulations darling, continue the hard work as you venture into your next phase in life and may God as always be with you and never lose sight of Him.
Love,
"Mami" & "Daddy"

*Ricky you have a new adventure in front you.
Keep your smiling face
and your steps walking with Jesus every day of your life.*

For this reason I tell you whatever you pray and ask for, believe that you have receive it, and it will be yours.

To our Joshua,
Congratulations on achieving this important milestone! Though we will miss all the happiness and laughter of years gone by, we are so proud of you, and humbled by the way that God is leading in your life. "For I am confident of this, that He who began in good work in you will continue to perfect
it until the day of Jesus Christ" Phil.1:6
We Love You!!!!

Elizabeth Pallavi Schuen Class of 2017

We are so proud of you and all your accomplishments! You have come so far to get to the very place you are now. There are so many wonderful things in store for your future. We can't wait to see where your road leads. We will be there for you every step of the way. Sometimes, just your sweet presence and smile alone can seem to bless the world! Love Always, Mom and Dad

"Commit to the Lord whatever you do, and your plans will succeed."
Proverbs 16:3

On August 10, 2014 you took the long journey to the U.S. to start a new chapter of life. It was one of the tough decisions that a parent can ever make, to let a child go through so many "unknowns". Yet you took this with grace and accepted the opportunity with excitement

Three years have gone by already and we are now coming for your graduation! Joseph as your parents, we had to make a big decision to let you go, search and charter your life path. Thanks for understanding that the decision to send you far from home was best for you. You have grown not only academically but in every aspect of life.

Remember that God has a purpose for your life. We know without a doubt that you will succeed because you have the abilities. You are humble, cool, rational and thoughtful. You have set a wonderful example for Tumelo and Salome by being yourself and working diligently. Salome and Tumelo have terribly missed your presence at home. But this is a journey you had to take and they too are so proud of you.

May God see you through as you pursue your college ambitions!

Dad, Mom, Tumelo & Salome

JJ, we have seen you take the step of leaving your parents and the comforts of home country to embark on an adventure of a lifetime-education! Your generosity, kindness and hard work have made the years quickly go by and get you to this point of graduation. We are so proud of your achievement! May your future be so bright that it will light up everyone who comes in contact with you.

We love you and all the best for your future. We are with you each step of the way.

Follow Your Dreams!

God has truly blessed you with unique talents and abilities, your positive attitude, your willingness to try new things, your dedication and your caring ways; all this shows just how much you've done with His gifts...

Today as we celebrate your accomplishments, remember that you are an important part of God's wonderful plan

THROUGHOUT THE YEARS

ABOUT this book

Dear reader,

I bet no one has ever told you "Yearbook was my calling." Typically that is reserved for more dramatic life decisions. People's epiphany moments normally happen when they choose their career or life partner, but for me it happened in the last semester of my junior year when Mrs. Bame mentioned yearbook to me. I was searching for some way to leave my mark on Shenandoah in my senior year, and it seemed that yearbook was the answer. When the school year began, we rallied troops for yearbook. As the year continued the number of members dwindled until we were left with the final four who carried the yearbook to fruition. With the small size of the group, the yearbook staff quickly became a family. Throughout the school year we dealt with many difficulties, technical and otherwise, including The Great Adobe Flash Rebellion.

This yearbook is the brainchild of four individuals who came together and tried with all their might to accurately represent what Shenandoah means to its students and faculty. The responsibility of creating a book that summed up the entire school was not taken lightly. When the yearbook deadline was upon us, we holed ourselves away in the computer lab and put the pedal to the metal in order to make sure the yearbook was in each student's hand at the correct time.

Although many people may not say that yearbook is their calling, that statement only begins to sum up how I feel about this experience.

Your Co-Editor and future Chief Justice,
Amaia Belgrave

A HUGE SHOUT-OUT AND THANK YOU TO FELICIA KISKU, COBY ODATE, MIRANDA BENTON, AND BRENDA NGETICH FOR COMING THROUGH LAST MINUTE AND HELPING US GET THE FINISHING TOUCHES. ALSO, THANK YOU TO MRS. KNIGHT, MRS. SHORT, MRS. HELMAN, DEAN AZARIAH, MS. HARLEY, AND WHOEVER ELSE TOOK PHOTOS THROUGHOUT THE YEAR. WE COULDN'T HAVE DONE IT WITHOUT YOU! AND THANK YOU, THE READER, FOR ENJOYING THIS BOOK, FLAWS AND ALL!

Dear Reader,

It's finally here. This yearbook represents a lot of things to me: countless hours of work from our small team of staff, frustrations when the computers wouldn't work or the site was down, memories made at yearbook camp with my co-editor Amaia and while taking pictures throughout the year, and stressing out about "gittin' it done" late into the night this last week before our deadline. But this is not my book, or SVA's, or the yearbook staff's. This is your book. It represents your 2016-2017 school year at SVA. It has your memories, contains pictures of you, and has your friends' signatures. So I encourage you to cherish it. Flip through its 132 pages, look at the pictures of yourself and your friends, and maybe even read some of the captions and copy. When you're missing your high school days, no matter how many weeks, months, or even years that takes, come back to this book and remember our history. Your history.

Daniel Chirvasuta
